

Germany Reports Advance to Don On Broad Front

Axis Forces Advance 100 Miles, Berlin Statement Declares

Russian Tank Attacks Reported Repulsed by Nazis

BERLIN (From German Broad.) July 5 (AP)—German and Axis forces lunging eastward beyond the Ukraine after spectacular gains of 100 miles or more have driven spearheads to the Don river on a broad front, the German high command announced today.

A communique said these thrusts are the Don, vital transportation link running south to the Caucasus, followed a break through Soviet positions between Kharkov and Kursk and the Nazi press immediately proclaimed that "the long expected big push now has been started."

Russian tank forces counter-attacked desperately but were repulsed with heavy losses and in savage fighting fifty-one Soviet planes were shot down, the high command said.

Don Control Important
The Don, Russia's largest river, flows in the Tula region 110 miles south of Moscow and follows a 100-mile winding course to Rostov, gateway to the Caucasus on the Sea of Azov.

The river's navigation is important to all southeast Russia, particularly because of its proximity to the Volga, on the east. It also waters the central black soil region, one of Russia's most fertile, and means the Don Cossack territory.

The high command reported that the Croation air force sank an enemy torpedo boat and damaged another vessel in Rostov waters. This was the first official mention that the former Yugoslav province has an air force.

Attack Russian Camps
In a surge of fighting elsewhere on the eastern front, the Germans said air raids were made by day on Russian troop camps in the Lake Pskov area, south of Leningrad, and on night on communications west of Moscow. German siege guns between Leningrad itself were reported to have shelled war industries in the city.

The last Soviet troops southwest of Sevastopol "have been either annihilated or taken prisoner after stubborn defense," the high command said, adding that "the battle of Sevastopol thus is ended."

Capone Gangster Hunted by Police

"Golf Bag" Hunt Sought for Questioning in Murder Case

CHICAGO, July 5 (AP)—Sam "Golf Bag" Hunt, one of the few living gangsters of the "Scarface Al" Capone prohibition era, was sought by police today for questioning in connection with the killing of a Negro houseman.

The victim, Mike Wade, 54, who was employed in suburban Winnetka, was shot to death during a traffic argument on the southside last night. James Baxter, 38, a Negro chauffeur also of Winnetka, was shot in the left hip.

Lieut. James McCarthy said the order to pick up Hunt was issued because the license number of the car used by the killer and his companions was traced to a woman believed to be a relative of the gangster.

Hunt won the nickname "Golf Bag" after his first arrest in Chicago in 1930, when he was seized after a shooting. A golf bag containing a sawed off shotgun lay on the ground nearby. Hunt also carried a revolver.

Records at the bureau of criminal identification show that Hunt was arrested fourteen times and was found guilty twice on charges of carrying concealed weapons. The other twelve charges were dismissed.

Mysterious Telephone Call Gives Air Raid Center Two-Hour Alert

BALTIMORE, July 5 (AP)—Col. Harry S. Barrett reported tonight a mysterious telephone call to an air raid warning center at Halethorpe put all civilian defense personnel in southwestern Baltimore on duty on the alert for more than two hours Saturday.

Barrett, state director of air raid precautions, said police have been unable to trace the call, which apparently came from an unauthorized source.

Barrett Bodenkoff, deputy director of civilian defense in Baltimore county, said he had requested the Federal Bureau of Investigation to make an inquiry.

Defeat of United Nations Would Mean a World of Terror, Roberts Says in Address in Philadelphia

Supreme Court Justice Declares Few Men at Top Would Trample Millions under Their Heels

PHILADELPHIA, July 5 (AP)—A defeat for the United Nations "would mean a world of terror and tragedy," Justice Owen J. Roberts of the supreme court said today.

"It would mean an insane world where a few men at the top of the heap would live out their hysterical lives trampling the millions under their heels," he said in an address prepared for delivery in connection with a concert of the CBS summer symphony program.

"But," he asserted, "the Axis will not win. Twenty-eight peoples, on every continent, have signed a solemn agreement with their blood, pledging to fight on until freedom and sanity returns to a tired earth."

Success, the jurist said, will be achieved only if the United Nations remain united, in war and in peace.

"Once let the tide of nationalistic prejudice and suspicion sweep over us, and we are lost to the enemy," he continued. "He sees that as clearly as we must. That is why the Axis strives always to split our unity asunder. That is why those who criticize Britain for her mistakes, without knowing all the facts, are endangering their lives and our lives as well. That is why, whatever some of us may have thought of the Soviet philosophy in the past, we must remember that Russia's fight is our fight, and that we must help her as she is helping us. That is why we must acclaim the emergence of China as a great and enlightened world power, newest and yet oldest in the family of nations."

27 JAPANESE BOMBERS ATTACK AIRDROME NEAR PORT MORESBY

Two Separate Raids Fail To Do Much Damage, Allied Headquarters in Australia Say

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Monday, July 6 (AP)—Twenty heavy Japanese bombers escorted by six Zero fighters attacked an Allied airdrome in the Port Moresby area of New Guinea yesterday and were followed by a second wave of seven bombers, General MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

The Allies suffered only light damage and casualties, the communique said.

Allied air units made raids on the island of Timor, on Lae and Salamaua in New Guinea, Haleta township on Florida Island, one of the Solomon group. Haleta township, two miles from Tulagi, is believed to be a Japanese supply base.

The text of the communique:

"Timor: Stambora: In a light attack Allied bombers struck at enemy occupied buildings. We had no losses.

"Northeastern sector: New Guinea: Port Moresby: Twenty heavy bombers escorted by six type Zero fighters attacked the airdrome. They were followed later by a second wave of seven bombers. We suffered light damage and casualties.

"Lae and Salamaua: Our air force continued its series of heavy attacks on enemy installations. Large fires were observed at various points in the target area. One enemy fighter was shot down and four damaged.

"Solomons: Tulagi: an Allied air unit lightly bombed Haleta township in a night raid."

Holiday Deaths Increase to 197 Fourth of July Toll Is Small As Compared to 1941

[By The Associated Press]
As the Fourth of July week-end drew to a close last night the nation counted its dead from violent causes at 197—far fewer than when Independence Day was celebrated with few restrictions in the years of peace.

Last year's toll of lives for a three-day week-end, Friday through Sunday, was 628, of which 384 were traffic victims.

Death toll ninety-three lives on the country's highways yesterday and Saturday, while sixty persons were drowned and forty-four died in other forms of violence. There were no fireworks victims reported.

Rationing Helps
The nation-wide campaign to conserve tires and the gasoline shortage along the eastern seaboard were the chief reasons for a general decrease in traffic and fatalities.

Although many more American families passed the holidays at home than in previous years, there were few home accidents reported.

Senator Lodge Home From Egypt

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—Senator Lodge (R-Mass.), now on active duty with the army as a major, returned to Washington today from a mission to Egypt.

The senator told reporters he had "very many amazing experiences" during his several weeks stay in the Middle East, but for military reasons did not feel free at this time to talk about them.

He was uncertain how much longer he would remain on active duty. A reserve officer, Lodge recently was promoted from captain to major.

Soviet Command Admits Loss on Belgorod Front

But Moscow Reports Other Nazis Attacks Have Failed

Invaders Lose Many Men In Ninth Day of Kursk Battle

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
MOSCOW, Monday, July 6 (AP)—Russian armies fighting bitterly against the Kursk offensive by German armies estimated at more than 150,000 men repelled incessant tank and infantry attacks at heavy losses to the Nazis yesterday, the Soviet command announced officially today as the Kursk battle went into its ninth day.

Just below the Kursk front, however, the Germans succeeded in driving a wedge in one of the sectors of the Belgorod front despite heavy losses, the Russians acknowledged.

The Soviet Bureau of Information reported that the Red army in the Kursk fighting "repelled uninterrupted enemy attacks, the enemy sustaining heavy losses."

"On one of the sectors of the Belgorod direction, despite heavy losses, the Germans managed to make a wedge in our defenses," the bureau's midnight communique said.

In a flanking attack our infantry and tankmen inflicted heavy losses upon the enemy. Hundreds of dead enemy soldiers and officers remained on the battlefield."

Fierce fighting also continued in the Volchansk sector adjacent to the Belgorod front, the Russians added.

Battlefront dispatches earlier said that savage Russian counter-attacks have hurled back the Nazis on two crucial sectors and indicated

Southern Locals Quit Mine Union Headed by Lewis

Barnard Borah Charges Plot To Wreck the Labor Movement

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., July 5 (AP)—Charging that John L. Lewis is attempting to "wreck the labor movement," Barnard Borah, regional director of district 50, United Mine Workers of America, today announced his resignation and a mass withdrawal of southern locals of district 50.

Borah said the southern units which are withdrawing will become affiliated directly with the Congress of Industrial Organizations through the National Council of Coke, Gas and Chemical Workers. The regional director has been in charge of Tennessee, Kentucky, North and South Carolina and Virginia.

He also announced the resignations of five of the regional organizers: B. T. Judd, Chattanooga; W. S. Smith, Memphis; J. R. Coope, Greenville, S. C.; C. W. Danenburg, Richmond, Va., and Greensboro, N. C., and Martin A. Watkins, formerly of Nashville, but now in the United States army.

There are approximately thirty locals in the upper South district, Borah said, with a total membership of more than 3,000. Virginia leads with twelve locals; Tennessee has eleven. Borah said he could speak for a majority of the locals in announcing their withdrawal from U.M.W. in protest of policies of Lewis, U.M.W. president, which "interfere with the country's war effort."

Borah submitted his letter of resignation to Kathryn Lewis, daughter of the U.M.W. president and secretary-treasurer of district 50, the subsidiary of U.M.W., which Borah said is used by Lewis to raid the jurisdiction of other unions "in an effort to break up the C.I.O."

Borah added that his instructions as director of the region were to "take everything that isn't nailed down and take that, too, if it isn't nailed down too tight."

Martin and his aides recovered about $200 after a long search.

Congress May Place Strict Curb On Price Control, Rationing

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—Congress may keep a finger on price control and rationing by limiting immediate appropriations and requiring the Office of Price Administration to ask for more money before it can broaden its present program.

Members of a Senate appropriations subcommittee were reported to have instructed Price Administrator Leon Henderson to trim his current requests for funds to the minimum necessary to carry on without expanding his operations.

One committee member who asked not to be quoted by name said the tacit understanding was

McNary Supports Roosevelt Stand On Wheat Sales

Republican Leader Favors 83 Cents a Bushel for Surplus

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—Senate Republican Leader McNary (Ore.) backed today President Roosevelt's demand that Congress permit the government to sell surplus wheat for livestock feed at about eighty-three cents a bushel instead of the parity price of $1.34.

McNary, an influential member of the Senate's farm bloc, predicted that House opposition to a Senate-approved farm bill authorizing the sale of up to 125,000,000 bushels of wheat at the lower price would collapse in the face of the president's stand.

"I think that when the first opportunity arises, the House will reverse itself and vote for the Senate amendment which the president supports," McNary told the reporters.

President Backs Plan
The president said Friday it was essential that the government be permitted to sell grain at low prices for feeding purposes if the armed forces and the civilian population were to be assured of adequate supplies of pork, beef, milk, chickens and eggs at prices that would not break through present ceilings or require excessive subsidies.

The grain sale provision has been the chief major point of controversy in the Senate and House handling of the regular $680,000,000 agriculture department appropriations bill. The department has been without funds since June 30, when the old fiscal year ended without a new appropriation bill having been enacted.

The House last week passed a substitute measure enacting portions of the new bill not in dispute and continuing appropriations for other divisions at last year's rates, but added to it a prohibition against government grain sales at less than

Hogs Eat $200 From Farmer's Roll

HAGERSTOWN, July 5 (AP)—Adam R. Martin, Maugansville, had a wallet containing $400 when he fed the hogs but now he has no wallet and only $200.

The purse dropped from his pocket and the hogs immediately lost their appetites for the usual fare and went after the wallet and the contents in various denominations.

The wallet was chewed to bits and about half the money was eaten or badly torn.

Martin and his aides recovered about $200 after a long search.

Everybody was relieved, for the lanky, raw-boned professional soldier, twenty years in the army, is one of the best of the United States tank experts that have been helping the British with their American-made models. The officers listened eagerly to his story.

Not all of it was made public—for example how it happened that Seastrom's "dog tag" (identification disc) had been found in the desert by the British and turned over to American authorities on June 15. Seastrom then had been in the desert on his own for a month, nursing

Barter System Used by Troops

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—A "big scale barter system" under which American troops overseas may obtain supplies to be charged against Lend-Lease accounts was announced today by the War Department.

The system, adopted to save transportation space and time, provides for furnishing of supplies, services, equipment and facilities by foreign governments in exchange for "appropriate credit against its account on the Lend-Lease books in this country."

Rommel's Troops Driven from New Egyptian Front

Reinforced British Army of the Nile Wins at El Alamein

Germans and Italians Lose Many Men in Furious Fighting

By HARRY CROCKETT
CAIRO, July 5 (AP)—Furious attacks by the reinforced British army of the Nile forced the Germans and Italians from their previous stabilized positions in the El Alamein sector seventy miles west of Alexandria yesterday after the Axis had suffered considerable losses in men and heavy equipment.

The Germans retreated locally to the northwest after being pounded by heavy guns, constantly strafed and bombed by the RAF and South African air force and pressed relentlessly by bayonet-wielding New Zealand Indians and British troops.

All British lines in the thirty-five mile bottleneck between the Mediterranean and the Quattara depression held firmly, and the men of Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck pressed their counter-attack with vigor through the day and night, front line dispatches said.

Throughout the long blistering day of vigorous fighting, it was the British who were doing all the attacking yesterday and the Axis which was doing the defending.

Not General Withdrawal
The German retreat was not a general withdrawal, but the fact that all the fighting was west and southwest of El Alamein was considered significant by military experts at this capital, 160 miles from the front line.

The general headquarters communique said:

"Our land forces continued to attack the enemy yesterday in the El Alamein area. The ene-

Protest Holding Ship Passengers

Lawton Parker Sees Scandal in Questioning Aboard Drottningholm

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 5 (AP)—Lawton S. Parker, noted portrait painter and an associate of the National Academy, who stepped ashore from the diplomatic exchange liner Drottningholm today, denounced as "a great scandal" the official investigation of passengers returning to his country from Europe.

More than 400 passengers are still aboard the ship which docked here last Tuesday. All are being questioned by army and navy intelligence officers, FBI agents and immigration and customs authorities.

Parker declared that he had "gone through a great deal in Europe, but there was nothing done there that compared to the handling of the people on the Drottningholm."

A group of ninety-eight Latin Americans were released from the Pennsylvania hotel where they had been detained since the ship arrived for questioning by federal officials.

Sixteen passengers were removed to Ellis Island, bringing to 147 the number of persons who have been sent to the island from the Drottningholm.

Phelps came through Frederick as a representative of an Alabama firm. Recalling that his brother, Winfield, had lived here, he asked at a rooming house whether anyone knew a Phelps family. The answer was "no."

However, a painter working at the house overheard the conversation and told the salesman he knew at least one Phelps family, and asked for whom the salesman was looking.

American Vessel Sunk by U-Boat Off So. America

Big Merchantman Crowded with Refugees Sent to Bottom

AN EAST COAST PORT, July 5 (AP)—A big American merchantman, crammed beyond lifeboat capacity with the survivors of two torpedoed vessels, was sunk near the northern coast of South America June 15, but not before a courageous navy officer gave up his life to fire at the attacking submarine.

Seven hours earlier, Capt. Eric Johansen had halted the ship to pick up sixty-three crewmen adrift in lifeboats, and 110 men in all were standing by when the first torpedo struck at 9:21 p. m.

Eighteen were lost—including nine of those who had survived the previous sinkings, six of the ship's regular crew and three navy gunners.

18 Hours Adrift
Thirty crewmen, eight gunners and the rest of the survivors were picked up after eighteen hours adrift in overcrowded lifeboats and liferafts.

When the torpedo struck an order to abandon ship came immediately, but Captain Johansen, First Officer George Collings of New York, the radioman and the navy officer in charge of the gun crew remained aboard and were lost. Second Officer Harlan Soeten, of Philadelphia, said he did not know the name of the

Fire Hose Used To Quell a Riot At North Beach

Twenty Men Arrested after Furious Battle Near Tavern

NORTH BEACH, Md., July 5. (P)—Police resorted to a fire hose today to quell a nocturnal riot which began with a tavern brawl and ended with the arrests of twenty men, Captain H. C. Hathaway reported.

Hathaway, town officer, said the rioting started in a waterfront tavern shortly after 2 a. m. following an altercation between two young men about their girl companions.

Other patrons of the establishment joined in the fracas and the battle moved into the street.

Within a matter of minutes, between 400 and 500 persons had crowded near to watch the slugging and some of them had become involved, the officer related.

Unable to handle the situation, Hathaway called upon state police, who sent a carload of six men to North Beach, and summoned the volunteer fire department.

The firemen turned loose with a hose, scattering the crowd and wetting down the fighters, "but some of them still wouldn't quit," Hathaway said. The arrests followed.

All of the twenty were charged with assault or disorderly conduct, and some of them posted bonds of $25 or $30 for their release pending hearings tomorrow before Trial Magistrate Clyde West, Hathaway added.

Synthetic

greater part in beating the rubber shortage.

A 200,000-ton increase in the program is under discussion. Air-minded senators are backing legislation to assure that this expansion would call for use of grain. The War Production Board's views may be disclosed tomorrow when Chairman Donald Nelson is to discuss this bill before an agriculture subcommittee headed by Senator Gillette (D-Iowa).

Lower Cost Explained

Lowered cost estimates of the synthetic program result in part from what WPA calls the "stripteasing" of specifications — and the substitution of cheaper and more plentiful materials for steel plates, copper and other scarce metals in plant construction — and in part from the natural reduction of cost per ton because of mass production.

Despite the dribbles of synthetic already coming in, a survey of the rubber situation at this time shows nothing immediately encouraging for the motorist who is worried about his tires.

Only 25,000 to 30,000 tons are expected this year, although a rate of 120,000 tons is scheduled to be reached by the year end. Next year, unless forecasts are upset, only about 300,000 tons will be turned out, although by the end of 1943 the full production rate of 800,000 tons a year will have been attained.

Long Wait for Civilians

Not until 1944 at the earliest will there be any synthetic rubber for the average civilian. The military will need every pound produced this year and next, responsible officials predict.

On another front, the scrap salvage drive, there is official pessimism. It appeared doubtful to most officials that the campaign ending next Friday would prove other than disappointing as it was described Thursday when Secretary of the Interior Ickes reported only 218,998 tons salvaged. No more recent figures have been released. It requires about two tons of scrap to make one ton of reclaimed rubber, and the uses of the reclaimed product are limited.

After the tag had been turned in messages to the roving technician had gone unanswered and Seastrom was unofficially considered lost. Meanwhile Seastrom was deep in the western desert, winning praise for valorous acts over and above the line of his technical duty.

Starts British Tank

During one battle, a British crew was unable to start their General Grant tank so Seastrom worked his way forward, put things right and returned. Later he was in charge of a group of British noncoms inspecting tanks at a reception point west of Port Capuzzo on the Libyan-Egyptian border.

He stayed at that post for a month while the Germans and Italians bombed and strafed Port Capuzzo nightly. He could have returned to Cairo anytime, but he preferred to stay on.

Seastrom, about 40, doesn't know exactly where he was born but he thinks it was some now extinct lumber camp near the Wisconsin-Minnesota border. He has a wife and two children, believed now to be living at Tacoma, Wash.

He came to the Middle East a year ago in the first group of Americans to teach the British how to operate and service the Honey and General Grant tanks. He has seen service in India and throughout the Middle East. His work probably has saved thousands of dollars worth of equipment and many lives.

Has Modern Gymnasium

The prison gymnasium is comparable to any small town sports arena. The chapel—complete with choir loft—seats 200, and the auditorium, which seats 650, is equipped with a stage and permanent screen for semi-weekly movies.

Superintendent Elmer St. Clair Maxwell and other prison officials have separate quarters, individual residences of native limestone on grass-covered terraces which overlook the main building.

The penal farm, conceived more than ten years ago as an experiment in prison reform, has been successful to a large extent in rehabilitating offenders. There have been comparatively few escapes, considering the ease with which a convict could leave the big farm property.

During the last eleven years 3,973 prisoners have been transferred to the farm from the state penitentiary and the house of correction. Of the few who did "go over the hill," only eight are still at large.

Nearly Escape Proof

The new building, however, is virtually escape proof. Willis R. Jones, chairman of the board of correction, announced that only those convicts confined to the house of correction or the penitentiary who show an aptitude for moral betterment would be transferred to the farm.

All tubercular convicts in other state prisons, however, are to be transferred to the penal farm hospital unit as quickly as possible.

Prison routine is built around the honor system and the cell blocks are so arranged that prisoners may be transferred to cells of less confinement or even to unlocked rooms, permitting the convict to roam about the building at will.

Class rooms are located in each of the prison wings and regular courses are taught in a number of subjects. The prison library is well equipped.

Many Do Farm Work

Prisoners run the thousand-acre farm. They raise their own hogs, cattle and vegetables and quantities of dressed pork and beef are stored in huge refrigerators. Vegetables are canned and the surplus sold to other penal institutions.

Their health is good too. Dr. Robert P. Conrad, prison physician reported that there have been no epidemics and no deaths from any causes during the last ten years.

The prison has accommodations for 900 convicts. The present population is between 300 and 400.

California Toll Tighest

A total of eighteen traffic victims were counted in California, which far outstripped the other states. Ohio led the states in reported drownings with a total of eight.

In Connecticut a man choked to death on a piece of meat at a picnic. A shipyard worker in Maine was crushed to death beneath an iron pipe. Four persons died in a fire in Oklahoma. One person was killed in New York state when a bridge collapsed.

The toll by states thus far reported included Kentucky, three; Maryland, three; Ohio, eighteen; Pennsylvania, eleven; Tennessee, two; Virginia, seven; West Virginia, three.

Chinese Defeat Japanese Troops

Invaders Driven Out of Kiangsi Province Town of Ihwang

By WILLIAM MCGAFFIN

CHUNGKING, Monday, July 6. (P)—Japanese troops who occupied the Kiangsi province town of Ihwang, eighty miles south of Nanchang, three days ago, have been driven out and today are in full retreat, the Central News agency said.

The Chinese, in a fierce counter-attack, recaptured the town less than twenty-four hours after the Japanese had occupied it, the agency said.

Its recapture was pictured as a blow to Japanese plans to trap large Chinese forces in the bulge of Central Kiangsi.

In South China, the agency reported, Chinese forces successfully raided Japanese positions near Yuntan, a Canton-Hankow railway town about forty miles north of Canton. The Chinese killed and wounded some 300 Japanese and captured a large quantity of war supplies.

Meanwhile, Japanese planes made night raids early Saturday and Sunday on Hengyang, Hunan communications center, after American airmen had smashed two day-long raids in a spectacular windup to their AVG career.

Neely Enters Race For U. S. Senate

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 5. Governor Matthew M. Neely, veteran of twenty-four years legislative experience in Washington, today formally entered West Virginia's Democratic primary contest seeking to return to the United States Senate seat he vacated in 1941 to take over the state government.

Neely disclosed that he had filed his certificate of candidacy with Secretary of State William S. O'Brien before leaving for Washington last Friday. It was not made available publicly in the list of other candidacies held by the secretary's election clerk.

By his action, Neely takes the field against former Governor H. G. Kump of Elkins, bitter factional foe of the Neely administration who has been campaigning for the nomination for several months.

Many Austrians Slain by Germans

MOSCOW, July 5. (P)—Many Austrians have been executed in Vienna in the past two months on charges of "anti-Reich activities," Tass reported today in a dispatch from Geneva.

parity. (The latter is a price calculated to give a farm product the same purchasing power it had in a past period, usually 1909-14.)

May Remove Restrictions

The Senate expected to take up tomorrow a revised version of this stop-gap legislation, continuing all departmental appropriations at last year's rates for the month of July, without any restrictions on the amount or price of grain the government might sell.

If the House accepted this version, the Senate and House would have the remainder of the month to settle their differences. These included Senate increases in funds for the farm security administration and the farm tenancy program as well as a stipulation that farm benefit payments should be counted in the amount received by the farmer when calculating party payments made to him on crops.

Although Mr. Roosevelt called the Senate's appropriations for the farm security agency "inadequate," he said they were "infinitely better" than the lower figures the House proposed.

The House had granted the farm security administration $25,319,000 in cash and loan authority of $70,000,000. The Senate made this $50,000,000 in cash and $125,000,000 in loans.

Senate Boosts Fund

For the farm tenancy program, the House approved $1,250,000 for administrative expenses and $25,000,000 in loans. The Senate upped this to $2,488,000 for administration and $50,000,000 for loans.

Senator Russell (D-Ga.) said he thought some compromise could be reached on these figures, if the Senate and House members could agree first on the grain sales provision.

Russell also said he would push in the Senate tomorrow a bill directing government loans at full parity on wheat, cotton, corn, rice, tobacco and peanuts, a measure which McNary has announced he would oppose.

INTERPRETING THE WAR NEWS

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

The forthright statement from the army's chief of ordnance that American tanks and other machine weapons are superior to the Nazis should clear away doubts which appeared to be assuming considerable proportions.

In both the United States and Canada there were published reports that the twenty-eight-ton medium tank had been found wanting in the north African desert fighting.

Dispatches from the front contribute to the uneasiness by stressing the hard blows dealt by the Nazis' eighty-eight millimeter anti-tank guns. Questions as to the battle qualities of the American tanks which the British dubbed "General Grants" became so insistent that some government officials even suspected sinister enemy propaganda.

Many Tanks Destroyed

The questions demanded an explanation after Prime Minister Churchill reported to Parliament that on June 13 all but seventy of some 300 British tanks in action in the desert—many of them presumably American Grants—were knocked out by General Rommel's army.

It was against this background that General Levin H. Campbell, Jr., declared in an Independence Day address that "our tanks are superior to anything the enemy has," as proven both in engineering comparisons and the test of battle.

The seventy-five-millimeter high velocity guns on the General Grants, he said, far and away outrange the best the Germans have on the armored vehicles forming the spearhead of Rommel's drive into Egypt.

As for the vaunted Nazi eighty-eight millimeter gun, it is a mounted on tanks at all, but is a relatively cumbersome and slow firing though hard-hitting weapon which Campbell asserted was more than matched by several American field and special anti-tank artillery pieces.

Criticism Gun Location

Criticism of the M-3 model tank—which incidentally did not stem from the British who manned them—was directed largely at the location of its seventy-five millimeter gun on the side where it could not be swung in a complete circle.

This mounting has been changed to the center turret in a later model, now in production, but official champions of the side location are unwilling nevertheless to concede that its weaknesses outweigh its advantages. The side mounting, they contend, gives greater freedom to the gunners, permits the addition of a thirty-seven millimeter gun, and awards the center location to another gun to beat off dive bomber attacks.

They argue, too, that it is easier and safer for the driver to change the course of the tank itself than for the gunner to swing the big gun to fire at a right angle, thus exposing the tank's largest silhouette to an enemy shell.

One acknowledged weakness of the side mounting is that it limits the ability of a disabled tank to keep on fighting when it can no longer maneuver.

British Outnumbered

As Mr. Churchill conceded, Rommel's forces enjoyed an advantage in the eighty-eight millimeter gun, but almost entirely because of the numbers that were in action. This dual purpose weapon was devised a decade or more ago for use against planes and tanks. Against the former it was found to be slow, but its high-velocity projectile penetrates any tank armor.

The prime importance of this gun just now is the large number that Rommel has available. Conversely, the principal weakness of American tanks is that relatively few found their way to the desert battle field in time, because of the war's urgent demands on shipping.

The explanation of the threatened catastrophe in Egypt must thus be placed elsewhere than on the quality of American weapons. Provided the battered Eighth army holds on for a while longer, it may be newly-arrived General Grants that will yet turn the tide decisively.

my was forced to withdraw from a ridge to the south of El Alamein after a number of enemy tanks had been knocked out. Our air forces maintained a maximum effort against the enemy, and landing grounds in the El Daba area (thirty-five miles west) were bombed and ground strafed.

During the last twenty-four hours, between 600 and 700 dust-caked and dejected German soldiers have crossed the El Alamein lines with their hands raised in surrender, discharges from the front said. They were quoted as saying they were tired and "completely fed up."

Many Germans Surrender

Never before have the German desert soldiers been known to surrender in such a number and in such a circumstance. Most were of the super Ninetieth Light Infantry which recently was reinforced from Germany. Some had fought in Russia.

Dispatches said all agreed they were sick and tired of the battle and decided to lay down their arms. Their decision obviously was induced by hours of constant shell-fire, infantry assaults and harassment by motorized machine-guns.

The newly arrived heavy guns, including some recently recaptured from the Germans, knocked out a number of heavy German tanks. Bombers and fighters destroyed at least 50 trucks between Sidi Barrani and Gambut. Most of them were troop carriers, moving up to the battlezone, the RAF said.

All through last night, air action continued apace and the entire period was considered another good day for the Allies.

While the ground forces pushed constantly forward against the most stubborn Axis resistance, fierce dogfights occurred overhead. American-made Kittyhawks and Tomahawks and the British Hurricanes bagged nineteen planes over the battleground and Malta, losing ten.

The RAF communique told of an enemy convoy off Sapienza Island, which was hauling up supplies and reinforcements to the Axis.

Sapienza is a Greek island west of Cape Matapan.

"One ship was hit by a torpedo and left in fire and smoke," said the communique.

It was the fourth day in which the army of the Nile had fought Nazi Marshal Erwin Rommel to a standstill, halting for the moment at least the grave peril to the naval base at Alexandria and the Suez Canal which lies 169 miles to the east.

20 Cargo Ships Sunk Last Week

(By The Associated Press)

At least 273 seamen and passengers were lost in enemy submarine attacks on Allied and neutral merchant vessels in the western Atlantic area last week, but more than 400 others were rescued and thirty-eight were reported missing.

Meanwhile, the unofficial Associated Press tabulation of United and neutral nations' ship losses in the Atlantic and adjacent waters since America's entry into the war went up yesterday to 339 with the reported torpedoing of a big American merchantman off South America, and the sinking of a smaller American vessel off the northern coast of the Dominican republic.

Last weeks announced sinkings included twenty cargo ships, of which eleven were United States vessels, two British, three Panamanian, one Norwegian, one Yugoslavian, one Brazilian and one Latvian.

Draft Evader Caught By Farmers After He Shoots Girl

TUNKHANOCK, Pa., July 5. (P)—A 23-year-old youth who hid in the woods near this northeastern Pennsylvania town for six weeks, was captured by an angry posse of farmers today after he had shot and wounded a 14-year-old girl.

Corporal Leroy Thomas, of the state motor police, said Charles Sebaucak, of nearby Nicholson, was captured at dawn asleep in an abandoned chicken coop. He was found by four rifle-carrying farmers, part of the posse of more than sixty.

Thomas said Sebaucak, who was wanted originally on charges of evading the draft, forced Louise Oakley at pistol point to accompany him last Tuesday. Yesterday afternoon the girl's grandfather, Norman Oakley, 62, and Nathan Davis, a neighbor, discovered them in the woods. In an exchange of shots, Thomas said, Sebaucak wounded the girl three times in the thigh and leg. He escaped in a flurry of shots by the grandfather.

Additional charges of assault and battery with attempt to kill and statutory rape were placed against Sebaucak, Thomas said.

Churchill Promises Help for China

CHUNGKING, July 5. (P)—Prime Minister Churchill told the Chinese people today as they neared the end of five years of war that Britain is determined to give them "every material, moral and spiritual help in our power."

The message will be broadcast to the Chinese people on their war anniversary Tuesday.

"Today we are fighting side by side against our common enemies and with us today we have the tremendous resources of the United States. The war in Europe and the Middle East is as much a part of the defense of China as the war in the Far East is part of the defense of Britain."

Jews of Palestine Prepared to Fight

NEW YORK, July 5. (P)—The Jews of Palestine are "calm and determined" they will not permit the enemy to pass," Dr. Israel Goldstein, president of the Jewish National Fund, declared today in announcing $100,000 had been cabled to fund headquarters in Jerusalem.

"The Jews of Palestine," he said, "are prepared to give their all in defense of their frontiers. We must do what we can to strengthen their hands."

High School Heads To Meet Today

COLLEGE PARK, Md., July 5. (P)—Several score high school superintendents, principals and supervisors will meet tomorrow with presidents of Maryland colleges and other school executives at the opening session of the second annual school administrators conference at the University of Maryland.

The four-day conference, continuing through Friday, will be under the direction of the College of Education.

All sessions will be informal, with no lectures or formal addresses scheduled. Each day will be devoted to a single general topic with authorities leading seminars and discussions on various phases.

War-time rationing and other problems will be discussed at the first session tomorrow which will be conducted by officials of the Office of Price Administration.

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts) July 5. (P)—More than 6,700 Chinese soldiers were killed and another 800 were captured in a five-day battle against the fourth Chungking army in a sector of the Ihwang river in eastern Kiangsi province, a DUB dispatch from Tokyo reported tonight.

Lucky Teeter Killed In Thrill Show

INDIANAPOLIS, July 5. (P)—Earl (Lucky) Teeter, 39, of Noblesville, Ind., nationally known automobile stunt man, was killed tonight in the last event of a holiday thrill show at the Indiana state fairgrounds.

Teeter was believed to have died instantly as his car hit the end of a ramp in a 150-foot leap through the air over a large transport truck. Dr. A. A. Sullenger of City Hospital said that he suffered a crushed chest and head injuries.

The show tonight was to have been the last for the duration for Teeter's stunt troupe, the "Hell Divers." Art Wright, publicity director for the organization said.

Ancient Cannon On Scrap Heap

GREAT LAKES, Ill., July 5. (P)—Old guns and other relics of previous wars, including fifty ancient cannon balls, were transferred from the naval training station's display case to the scrap heap here today to be used in the manufacture of steel for modern fighting implements.

The scrap heap contribution, weighing 18,000 pounds and gathered by the training station, included many weapons which had been fired in the Spanish-American war. Among these were a Hotchkiss semi-automatic three pounder recovered from the Maine which sank in Havana harbor in 1898, and three 25 mm. Nordenfiet guns captured by sailors under Adm. George Dewey in Manila Bay on May 1, 1898.

Also contributed were two naval rifles from two German warships interned at Norfolk, Va., in April 1915, and three 47 mm Hotchkiss revolving cannons from the U.S.S. Yorktown (1895-96).

Farmer Kills Soldier, Commits Suicide

BECKLEY, W. Va., July 5. (P)—Henry H. Crist, 45-year-old farmer of Ramsey, shot and killed a young soldier home on furlough then committed suicide, Deputy Sheriff G. T. Davis reported today.

He identified the shooting victim as Boots Kincaid, 25, of Ramsey, near Ansted, Fayette county, adding that no motive had been established. Crist's body was discovered later at his home by a farmhand. Magistrate J. C. Cole, acting as coroner, entered a verdict of murder and suicide.

Davis said the two men had been friends, and that apparently no hostile words passed between them preliminary to the shooting on a highway near Ramsey.

American Vessel Sunk by Submarine

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic, July 5. (P)—The 2,689-ton United States freighter Norlandia was sunk by an enemy submarine Friday night twenty-six miles off the northern coast of this Caribbean republic and fourteen survivors, including the captain, arrived last night.

The captain said eight others of the crew of thirty were adrift in a second lifeboat. Their fate was not known.

The Norlandia was twenty-three years old and owned by the Merchant and Miners Company, Baltimore was its home port.

19 Survivors Safe After Sub Attack

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT, July 5. (P)—Nineteen survivors of a United Nations' merchant vessel torpedoed and sunk by an Axis submarine in the Western Atlantic were landed at this port today.

The crewmen said that an undetermined number of their mates had been lost. Others were taken to an Eastern United States port.

Some Parents Termed Savages By Doctor Myers

Mothers and Fathers Un-thinkingly Cause Children To Suffer

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Our human frailties keep us from being as good parents as we ought to be. Without knowing it, we do many things to annoy our children and to destroy their personality.

The baby, long before he utters his first word, asks questions and interprets his environment by gestures and grunts. The efforts of the little child at expression, therefore, often seem quite strange to us. He appears to know so little; we so much. We are amused by his questions and remarks which to him are serious and are not meant to be funny. So to ridicule the helpless child makes us feel important and superior.

What savages some parents are! The mother who has never smiled at her child's mistakes ought to be laughed.

Social Suffering
You and I may have suffered in some social situation, much as the child suffers when we laugh at his mistakes. At a party you observe an exchange of smiles between two persons following a remark of yours. You, indeed, may discover immediately what you said that made them smile. In that event you are overwhelmed. You wish you had kept quiet, and you resolve to be more careful when you speak again. The chances are, however, you won't know what caused their smile, except that it was something that you said or did. You feel that it must have been something stupid. So you go on worrying about yourself.

All evening you suffer and accuse yourself of having been foolish. You wish that you could quickly disappear. You have a constant dread lest you might again do something or say something to cause more ridicule. Next time you are at a similar gathering, next time you attempt to speak before anyone whom you don't know very well, you are going to be more cautious.

Risk of Laughter
To this day you and I often feel ourselves keeping very quiet, when to express an opinion, or to ask a question, would enlarge our wisdom wonderfully. We don't want to run the risk of being laughed at. So to be on our guard makes us feel inferior, makes us suffer, harms our personality.

We parents do not want our children to endure the needless pain we have endured, to have the fear of people that we have had. Let us, therefore, struggle with ourselves to see that we may learn to be so considerate of the feelings of the little child that no matter how funny anything he says may appear to us, we won't laugh at him. Let us try to build up personality in our children, not destroy it.

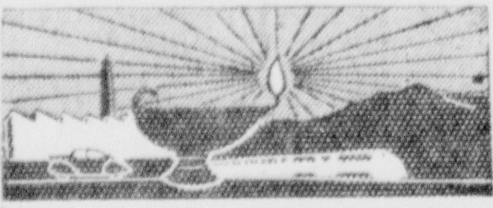

A selected list of books on personality and mental health may be had by writing me at 235 East Forty-fifth street, New York city, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. We live on the corner of a very large unfenced yard. The street in front of the yard is a highway. I have tried training my 2-year-old daughter to stay in the back where I can watch her but she insists on running away.

A. Let everything else go for about a week. Always be right by the child when she is out at play. Show her the tree, stone or other mark beyond which she must never go unguarded. The moment she crosses the line spank her. Never warn her; let her always get instant pain as she crosses the line.

Beware the Petty Wartime Racketeers

AS a means of forewarning Cumberland people about getting gyped in wartime racketeering, the chamber of commerce is distributing a reprint of an article in Business Week, which tips off these racketeering schemes, with which, it seems, their workers are now having a regular field day.

Check-ups by Better Business Bureaus have disclosed that these petty racketeers are concentrating their attention upon promoting phony repair services, organizing "official" army-navy clubs, exhibitions, magazines and charities, and selling phony merchandise of the hard-to-get variety, according to the reprint.

The "repair" boys, it is noted, operate most viciously in a house-to-house business in the plumbing and heating fields. After tinkering a bit, it is stated, they usually walk away with enough pipes, valves and the like to make the racket quite worth while.

Other racketeers listed are the sale of "dopes," such as Epsom salts under fancy names for giving new "life" to batteries; the organization of clubs for no other reason than to get suckers to pay membership dues; solicitations for publications which rarely are published; all sorts of alleged "defense and patriotic exhibitions and contests; refugee organizational drives; vanity books and other publications.

One racket is the "unhonored" merchandise tag, which involves the mailing of articles to persons who have not ordered them and getting a contribution to a "charity" in return for the gift. As numerous charities use this questionable system, it is said to be difficult to detect the fakers.

The article states that most of these petty racketeers, have been shown through Better Business Bureau records to be worked by habitual crooks who have had long experience in the use of "sucker" lists.

Means of combatting this war time racketeering are suggested by the Better Business Bureau: (1) Question all telephone solicitations from strangers; (2) Don't contribute to any "cause" without getting a complete unbiased report on it; (3) ask solicitors to fill out a questionnaire and (4) subscribe to advertising only on a C. O. D. basis.

The local chamber of commerce has long maintained a checking system against petty racketeering of this sort and members have mutually agreed not to make purchases, give orders or subscribe to any fund or promotion solicitation unless they have first been investigated and indorsed by the chamber. Persons having any doubts about things of the kind should demand proof of such indorsement from solicitors or, better yet, get in touch with chamber headquarters at once to see whether they have received such indorsement.

Much Better Than Cookies

NO MATTER how many boxes of cookies and other dainties a man in the armed services receives from home, there is nothing that quite takes the place of letters.

Whether they are from mother, dad or the rest of the family, from the wife or the girl friends, from his pals or his associates in business, they are received eagerly and every little bit of news from home is appreciated.

Men in all branches of the armed forces are alike in one respect. They are away from home and those dearest to them. These men are facing a gigantic task. It is up to "the folks back home" to do their bit toward keeping the morale of the fighting forces as high as possible.

This can be done by writing letters, many of them, in as cheerful a vein as possible.

A Fundamental Flaw In the Nazi System

GHASTLY as the slaughter of the innocents is in countries conquered by Germany, the motive behind many of the executions betrays a fatal weakness in the Nazi system.

There is — or rather, there was — in Paris a group of scientists affiliated with the Ethnological Museum of Man, founded six years ago. In the course of time, Hitler ordered them all arrested. Seven of the scientists already have been executed, and from London comes reports that three more, all women, have been sentenced to die by Nazi authorities.

Why such determination to wipe out this entire group? One reason is that they refused to place their talents at the disposal of Germany in the conduct of the war. That, provides a very practical motive for murder, as the Nazis see it. But there is an even deeper purpose, a purpose based in fear.

It happens that the Museum's theories of man, his origin and development, do not accord with Nazi racial doctrines. There is no room for Nordic superiority in its anthropological system. Hitler cannot tolerate that, so he kills.

Any doctrine or organization that cannot bear scrutiny or even dissent, that must annihilate both criticism and critics to preserve itself, is doomed from within. The execution of the French scientists betrays a fundamental flaw that can be hidden temporarily by the violent removal of antagonists but that eventually must stand out clearly. The Nazis have no abiding faith in their own hypothesis. Otherwise they would not feel the urge to kill men and women whose theories deny Nazi racial superiority.

Vanity has made the German people susceptible to the perverted teachings of Nazism. Only bombs and bullets can blast it out of them.

The Japanese And Siberia

JUST AS Japanese extremists finally convinced all other elements in Nipponese public life that the United States and Great Britain had to be attacked before last Christmas, or never, so the unexpected American war production is now spurring them to a similar decision—to attack Siberia.

Never again will the odds so favor the Japanese. Moreover, the first bombings of Japan, insignificant though they were compared to what is coming, have stirred political unrest there.

Japan's present offensive on the China front is threefold in purpose. It is to insure a land route of supply to areas occupied in the south—Malaya, Burma and the Netherlands East Indies. It is also to capture airfields to make landing of American and Russian planes more difficult there, and also to enable the Japanese to employ the eminently successful new technique of bombing hostile naval detachments with land-based planes.

The third purpose is to set up a buffer against a Chinese counter-attack when the Russo-Japanese war begins.

The Japanese reason that with due caution they can avoid any conclusive or decisive naval battle with the United States. They believe the Allies are too involved elsewhere to ask for an immediate naval showdown until America's naval construction program is nearer fulfillment.

The next move, then, is the Japanese army's and the grand strategy would naturally call for an advance northward. Aleutian operations are the beginning of the effort to block American-Russian coordination.

The Russians know all this. That is the reason the new promises of American aid are so reassuring to Russia and to China.

If Mussolini is to be fired, as reports from Italy have it, his will be one "resignation" which would be accepted without regrets.

The Browser's Bookshelf

By MARSHALL MASLIN

It is not easy to write of Robert Nathan and the stories he sets down on paper. The Browser has been reading Nathan's stories for many years. They are always the same and they are always different. He learned when he was young how to write beautifully and quietly, with hidden strength, with charming imagination—of the little neglected people of this world, of children and old men and women and young and wistful lovers. And he has never failed to tell a heartening and strengthening tale. Nor are his stories ever "dated."

Such a tale as Robert Nathan tells in "The Sea-Gull Cry" (Knopf) would make a beautiful motion picture, were it given just the right actors and just the firm direction that it deserves.

There is a girl named Louisa, proud and beautiful and lonely, with brown eyes like amber in the sun who came to a Cape Cod beach from her broken home near Oracov—with her little brother Jeri and there a middle-aged professor named Richard Smith who had sicken a little in the most furious action in history of lecturing on the structure of countries that no longer existed to young people who "did not expect to have anything to do with history, except in a book." To get away from his life for a little time in the summer he bought a sloop and sailed along the coast and wrecked his back on the beach where Louisa and her brother were living in an old scow. . . . And after a while Louisa is no longer lonely, and the weary man has regained his faith.

The story was worth telling, even while the battle rages around us—and the Browser thanks Robert Nathan for telling it to us.

By this time you probably know that the Browser will read anything and this course — because he has frequently spent hours on very dull stuff—led him last week to read "Oil in the Earth" four lectures delivered by Wallace E. Pratt at the University of Kansas, and published by that university at Lawrence, Kansas.

Mr. Pratt is a director of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, he's a geologist, and his book is very encouraging. He sees no end to the supply of oil in the earth and believes that "before our oil in the earth is exhausted, we shall be making oil ourselves just as well as Mother Nature made it for us." He believes that oil can be found in quantity almost anywhere if only other nations will search for it in the American way. The American way in this country has been to drill almost one million wells, more than 200,000 of which were exploratory dry holes. So he says: "Where oil really is, then, in the final analysis, is in our own heads."

The wholesome conclusion is that nations should not fight wars for oil—they should go out and look for it in their own back yards.

Rubber is an entirely different kind of commodity, as you will discover for yourself if you read "Rationed Rubber and What to Do About It" by William Haynes and Ernst A. Hauer (Knopf). Here is a compact story of where rubber grows, how it was commercialized, how it is produced in the laboratory and factory, and how the synthetic rubber of tomorrow will give us better and cheaper tires.

A useful book.

NOTICE: The Browser thinks Kenneth Fearing shouldn't write novels. He didn't like that writer's "The Hospital." He has equal dislike for his new novel "Clark Gifford's Body" (Random House), a badly organized tale of civil war in a country that seems to be ours, at some time in the future. It is told by too many characters from too many points of view. . . . and it bored Marsh Maslin.

War Will Not Be Lost with Egypt, Paul Mallon Says

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, July 3.—As Egypt goes, so goes the whole Middle East, theater of war.

Paul Mallon

No more military information than that provided by a world map will tell you that Axis closure of the Mediterranean will require a whole new concept of the world struggle by the United Nations. A changed strategy for victory will have to be devised.

The shipping distance from New York and London to Basra, at the head of the Persian gulf, is greater than from San Francisco to Australia. Any Middle East defensive campaign, based on that port (which would be the only feasible one left by Egypt's fall) could be sustained only to a very limited and difficult extent.

Any effort to keep the tiny dot of Malta in the middle of the Mediterranean would hardly be worthwhile. The navy nearly gave some military experts heart failure the other day by announcing, during the battle of Egypt, that the American aircraft carrier Wasp had arrived at Malta with vital plane reinforcements.

Wasp Trips Much Earlier

With Egypt tottering, it was no time for an American aircraft carrier to be there. It developed the Wasp venture had been carried out earlier. As a matter of fact, it was carried earlier, about last May 1, to be exact.

The British could have no use for Malta, with Egypt gone, because there would be no landing place for British or American convoys to go, through that inland sea.

Nor could they use it for planes or subs to bomb or prey upon Rommel's line of supplies, because Rommel's supply route could go straight from Italy to Alexandria, beyond plane range. Malta no doubt would have to go as Egypt goes.

A stand might be made in Palestine or Syria for the Near East oil fields, but, as pointed out above, this defense would have to be supported hazily by the circuitous route of supplies back through Basra, while the Nazis enjoyed perfect interior supply routes back to Germany.

Consequently a new theory for distribution of our lend-lease supplies and our military strength would be a likely military necessity. Britain then would not be fighting on any front.

Russia and China

The big front would be in Russia, the secondary one in China. Methods of sustaining those fronts to a much greater extent than was possible before, would have to be initiated.

The Nazis were cut up considerably, but not critically, in taking Sevastopol. Perhaps fifteen of their twenty divisions in the Crimea may shortly be available for the big Hitler effort that is to come. He may have to make two out of one in some instances and get many untrained replacements, but there is no reason to hope that his coming venture has been made impossible by his Sevastopol losses.

The best reports suggest he has 185 to 210 divisions on the Russian line (around 3,000,000 men). His losses so far this spring and summer have actually been greater than the Reds, although his total manpower is about the same as last year.

Now, however, he is using more Italian and Rumanian troops and calling upon untrained replacements.

His tactics are different. Rommel is still using in Egypt, the same wedge and kessel strategy for tanks that proved so successful in France. The tanks break through rummage around and encircle.

Hitler cannot do that any more in Russia. The Reds are deployed in depth. Therefore, Hitler has switched to short battering ram blows. He puts his big assault tanks up at the front of the line to make short jabs, follows up with

BOOSTS PRODUCTION

Roy A. Hunt

The aluminum Company of America, under the leadership of its president, Roy A. Hunt, needed no conversion for war production, but it did have to increase its capacity for the production of a material essential to the winning of the war. Hunt's task is to see that not only the aircraft manufacturers have an ample supply of aluminum, but also the producers of many other important war products.

LOOK WHO'S HOLDING THE SCREEN DOOR OPEN

Jockeying by Farm and Labor Groups Is Dangerous Game Now, Sullivan Says

By MARK SULLIVAN

Price Administrator Leon Henderson has used words which sum up all the factors in the outstanding situation in Washington. This situation is a domestic menace—in Mr. Henderson's words it is a home front disaster that will impair the prosecution of the war.

The menace is inflation. Rarely has it been so easy to recognize. Practically every one of the factors that create inflation are present. All are simultaneously at a point of crisis, conspicuous in the news. All are geared into each other in the upward spiral which inflation becomes after it gets under way. And—fortunate fact if advantage is taken of it—rarely has inflation been so simple to check.

Let us survey the factors. For convenience, take first, cost of living, prices of food. This means, mainly, prices of farm crops. This is involved in the deadlock between House and Senate over the Agriculture department appropriation bill. It is involved also in the controversy between Congress and Price Administrator Henderson. The story, briefly, is this:

When Congress, last February, wrote the Price Control bill, it decreed that the administration must not put a ceiling on farm crops until they reached a level described as "110 per cent of parity." That extra ten per cent was itself a slight act of inflation. For ten years, the farm group in Congress has demanded mere parity. Now they enacted ten per cent more than parity.

But the administration did not wish to be held strictly to this level. They found a way to get around it. They had on hand great quantities of wheat, corn and other farm crops, which they had bought in past years when they wanted to keep prices up. These the administration now started to put on the market, very gradually, at a price slightly below the parity standard. The administration did this in order to keep prices from rising.

This the farm group in Congress resented. They felt it was an attempt to get around the law. So they wrote into the House version of the Agriculture Appropriation bill a provision which would prevent the administration from selling below parity. Deadline over this (and some other matters), between House and Senate, is the cause of failure to pass the Agriculture Appropriation bill, which ought to have been passed before July 1.

Farm Bloc Resentful

President Roosevelt and the administration want the appropriation bill passed, of course, and want the farm bloc to participate in a just settlement of the peace without the advantage of special concessions. In the second place it indicates that Britain and the United States, despite their sense of obligation to Russia for the undeniable damage she has inflicted on Germany are not going to allow their gratitude to sway their better judgment or betray the principles which they have announced to the world as their hope for victory.

Farm Bloc Resentful

President Roosevelt and the administration want the appropriation bill passed, of course, and want the farm bloc to participate in a just settlement of the peace without the advantage of special concessions. In the second place it indicates that Britain and the United States, despite their sense of obligation to Russia for the undeniable damage she has inflicted on Germany are not going to allow their gratitude to sway their better judgment or betray the principles which they have announced to the world as their hope for victory.

Let us survey the factors. For convenience, take first, cost of living, prices of food. This means, mainly, prices of farm crops. This is involved in the deadlock between House and Senate over the Agriculture department appropriation bill. It is involved also in the controversy between Congress and Price Administrator Henderson. The story, briefly, is this:

When Congress, last February, wrote the Price Control bill, it decreed that the administration must not put a ceiling on farm crops until they reached a level described as "110 per cent of parity." That extra ten per cent was itself a slight act of inflation. For ten years, the farm group in Congress has demanded mere parity. Now they enacted ten per cent more than parity.

But the administration did not wish to be held strictly to this level. They found a way to get around it. They had on hand great quantities of wheat, corn and other farm crops, which they had bought in past years when they wanted to keep prices up. These the administration now started to put on the market, very gradually, at a price slightly below the parity standard. The administration did this in order to keep prices from rising.

This the farm group in Congress resented. They felt it was an attempt to get around the law. So they wrote into the House version of the Agriculture Appropriation bill a provision which would prevent the administration from selling below parity. Deadline over this (and some other matters), between House and Senate, is the cause of failure to pass the Agriculture Appropriation bill, which ought to have been passed before July 1.

Campaign Moves At a Slow Pace, Stewart Reports

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

Campaigning for seats in the Senate and House of Representatives at the coming congressional election is exceedingly slow in warming up this year.

It might have been expected that the war would make it especially gingery, but it appears to have had the opposite effect. If the conflict had been progressing highly satisfactorily from the standpoint of the democracies, including our own, the Democrats undoubtedly would be ballyhooing our successes, but they can't very well do so in the face of the present situation.

Republicans Restrained

The Republicans, on the opposite hand, can't afford to be overly critical lest they give an impression of opposing the administration in the midst of a great national emergency at a time when it's every good citizen's duty to give it his fullest support regardless of party considerations.

For the G. O. P. to win enough seats to give it a Senate majority is of course impossible, since the senators are elected only one-third at a time and the Democrats have so wide an existing numerical superiority that they still have a small one even if the Republicans triumphed in every 1942 contest, which they'll be far from doing, naturally. They'll be heartily gratified if they score three or four victories, and corresponding gains to their own alignment of today will fully suit the Democrats.

Small Turnover Likely

The representatives being chosen all at once, the lower house can be flipped, theoretically, although that would involve an enormous and highly improbable turnover.

The Democrats would appreciate, say, half a dozen representative additions, as a popular expression of confidence, and that many on their side would pretty well satisfy the Republicans, too, just as a token to them.

The fact is that I don't think the G. O. P. would like control of the representatives' chambers at this juncture; it would force 'em into the position of an opposition party. That's a role that they can't afford to be identified with, no matter how the war develops. If we pick up and come out all right, they'd be accused of having delayed the happy outcome and, in the event of the other unbelievable sequel, they'd be blamed for it.

The anti-administration element does make a modicum of capital out of the charge that the New Dealers, by over-concentrating upon economic policies, neglected preparations for national defense, and that that neglect's what we're paying for now. It's a point that it's premature to argue as yet, though.

Candidates Outspoken

Now, I'm discussing what party leaders say in Washington, where such matters are discussed discreetly.

Actual candidates, out on the so-called hustings, perhaps are more

Miss Phyllis Livengood's Engagement Is Announced

Winston O. Weaver Will Wed Pinto Girl July 18 at 7 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Livengood, Pinto, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Miss Phyllis Burnett Livengood, to Winston Odell Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Weaver, Harrisonburg, Va.

The ceremony will be solemnized at 7 p. m. July 18, before an improvised altar erected on the lawn of their home, with the Rev. C. M. Helmick, pastor of the Pinto Menonite church, officiating.

Miss Livengood has chosen her cousin for her attendant, Miss Colleen Barton will be maid of honor, Miss Virginia Dayton and Miss Velma Yoder, bridesmaids; Shirley Collins and Carol Jean Johnson will be the little flower girls.

Harold Ours, Harrisonburg, will serve as Mr. Weaver's best man; and the four uncles of the bride, Carlton Helmick, Claude Yoder, Wesley Collins and Robert Johnson, will be the ushers.

The bride-elect is a graduate of the Cresaptown junior high school and next September will be a senior at Eastern Menonite college, Harrisonburg, Va.

Mr. Weaver completed his high school course at Eastern Menonite, Harrisonburg; and will complete his senior year at Bridgewater college, Bridgewater, Va., at the expedited summer program.

A reception for 130 guests will be held following the ceremony. The couple, upon their return August 1, from a wedding trip to the Great Lakes, will reside at Edgewood Estate, Harrisonburg, until his induction in the armed forces.

clarion call of those immortal words contained in the Declaration of Independence: 'We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed with certain inalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.'

"While these immortal words proclaimed the things to which we are entitled, they never guaranteed that we could enjoy this great legacy without defending it. So our fighting forces are on the field of battle. They have a stupendous task ahead, and we, too, on the home front have our jobs cut out for us. Never before in the history of our nation has the individual effort of each and every loyal American citizen meant so much toward a war of effort. There is something for everyone to do."

Learning Many Things
The American people have learned much since the treacherous Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. They have learned that our isolation is no longer a guarantee to our security. They know now that Japan is a powerful and dangerous enemy; that Germany cannot be starved out of the war; that German U-Boats are a menace to our shores; that the people of the British Isles can take the most devastating bombings in history and still continue to build an effective war machine. They know that Russia cannot be made to fold up under the powerful onslaughts of Germany's mechanized army. x x x
"And there is yet another important thing that has been learned in this chaotic period in the history of the world, and that is, if by the Grace of God and the help of the strong arms of the allies, we are given time to build, time to deliver, time to add to our might at the battle fronts of the world to bring ultimate victory, we shall then make it our business to see that no diabolical tyrant can ever again rear his ugly head above the horizon of civilization."
"We have learned as never before that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty."

Americans Must Be Realists
"It is our job to be hard-headed realists, to know that no peace will maintain itself unless watched. Propagandists will undoubtedly urge that our enemies were innocent victims of vicious leaders, sentimentalists will again feel sorry for the defeated peoples and actually begin criticizing our allies. We who lived through the previous war know exactly what to expect. We must, therefore, have the courage and integrity to insist that those things be done, once and for all, to promote a lasting peace among the peoples of the earth."
"No better time for this high resolve can be found now. Let us give our Independence day this added meaning and purpose for the benefit of civilization, as we pay tribute to our heroic forefathers who laid the foundation of American democracy. x x x"

Uses Stephen Benet's Prayer
In the White House on Flag day, within a semi-circle of the banners of the United Nations, sat the president of the United States, with the president of the Philippines, the secretary of state and the Mexican ambassador. Underneath each flag stood the representative of his country. Breaking the hush of that stirring scene, the president of the United States read Stephen Benet's beautiful prayer:
"God of the free, we pledge our lives and hearts today to the cause of all free mankind. Grant us vic-

Frostburg Will Inaugurate New Traffic Rules

Regulation at Corner of Grant and East Main Effective Today

FROSTBURG, July 5 — Police Commissioner Arthur Thomas announced that, effective Monday, a new traffic regulation at the corner of Grant and East Main street, will be placed in effect. East Main street has been marked off to provide two lanes of west-bound traffic. Motorists driving west will use the center lane for a left turn for Grant street and the right lane for through traffic. The same regulations are also to be employed at the corner of Bowery and East Main streets.

A number of changes in parking meters are also to be made. Two meters will be removed from Depot road; three from North Water street; four from Mechanic street, between Water and Broadway, and one near the corner of Broadway on Ormond street. All the areas where the meters are to be removed will be designated as restricted zones. The meter boxes in front of the six offices of local physicians will be replaced with signs for physicians parking only.

All the meters to be removed will be relocated as follows: four on the west side of Broadway, between Ormond street and Frost avenue, and the others on the north and south side of West Main street, west of Water street.

Passeau of Cubs To Work on Slab For Senior Loop

Chandler Is Likely American League Choice--Dickey Will Miss Game

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP)—The character of tomorrow night's tenth annual major league All-Star game began to take shape today as Claude Passeau of the Chicago Cubs was tabbed for the National League's opening pitcher and Manager Joe McCarthy revised his tentative American League lineup.

Baseball celebrities headed by Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis and American League President Will Harridge began gathering today and a crowd of 50,000 was expected to jam the Polo Grounds for the war-charity spectacle at 6:30 p. m. but interest centered on the maneuvering of the managers to get the strongest possible teams onto the field.

The American League stock suffered a severe blow as Bill Dickey, veteran catcher of the world champion Yankees, disclosed that a shoulder injury would keep him out of the game. He wrenched his right shoulder at Philadelphia the middle of last week and has played in only one game since.

Wagner Replaces Dickey

Dickey's place on the squad was given to young Hal Wagner of the Philadelphia Athletics after a conference between Harridge and McCarthy between games of today's doubleheader at Yankee stadium. Wagner is a left-handed batter with an average of about .255.

Manager McCarthy, rejoining his club today after a siege of illness, announced the following batting order for tomorrow:

Boudreau, Cleveland, ss
Henrich, New York, cf
Williams, Boston, lf
J. D. Magglio, New York, rf
Gordon, New York, 2b
Keltner, Cleveland, 3b
Tebbel, Detroit, c

McCarthy indicated his choice of a starting pitcher rested between Spud Chandler of the Detroit Tigers and Al Benton and Lefty Harold Newhouse of Detroit.

Although nine pitchers were selected for the American League All-Star club, every one of them was used either yesterday or the day before.

Passeau Has Won 12 of 17

Chandler, winner of nine games against two defeats, was generally considered the most likely choice.

At Boston today Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who will guide the National League All-Stars, said he would start Passeau "unless he pitches for the Cubs today."

Passeau, the losing pitcher if last year's All-Star upheaval at Detroit when Ted Williams slammed his ninth-inning homer, has won twelve games and lost five this year, pitching fifteen complete games. Passeau and Ray Starr of Cincinnati, named to the National squad tonight as a replacement for the injured Paul Derringer, lead the major leagues in victories with twelve each.

Durocher said that if anything kept him from using Passeau he would open with Mort Cooper of the St. Louis Cardinals, who was knocked out of the box in the fifth inning yesterday and charged with a loss to the Cubs. He has won eleven, including six shutouts.

Cooper, Whitlow Wyatt of Brooklyn and two lefthanders, Johnny Vander Meer and Cliff Melton (who worked yesterday) were singled out as the other hurlers most likely to be called for service.

Whichever squad wins will have to have a couple of hurlers left for service the next night when the winning team takes on Lefty Gordon (Mickey) Cochrane's All-Star army and navy array at Cleveland before an expected crowd of about 75,000 in Municipal stadium. This game will start at 9 p. m.

National Batting Order

The National League's probable batting order against a righthanded starter is:

Brown, St. Louis, 2b
Vaughan, Brooklyn, 3b
Reiser, Brooklyn, cf
Mize, New York, lf
Ott, New York, rf
Medwick, Brooklyn, c
Miller, Boston, ss

This gives the senior circuit a solid set of five lefthanded batters to open against any righthanded pitcher McCarthy may select and Durocher, with little loss of power, could convert his lineup to lead off with five righthanders if the American League started Newhouse.

In changing the lineup he previously had indicated was his first choice, McCarthy chose the slugging Rudy York, a righthanded hitter, over George McQuinn of St. Louis, a lefthander, for first base, but offset this by choosing Tom Henrich and Stan Spence for righthanded outfields.

Ray Starr Gives Cincinnati Even Split with Bucs

National League Loses Paul Derringer for All-Star Game Today

PITTSBURGH, July 5 (AP)—Pitcher Ray Starr won his twelfth game of the season 5 to 2 today to give Cincinnati an even split in a double bill with Pittsburgh after the Pirates had grabbed the opener, 4 to 3, but the National League lost Paul Derringer for tomorrow's All-Star game in New York.

Derringer, who started the opener for the Reds, was felled by a line smash from Bob Elliott's bat during a three-run Pirate rally in the sixth inning. Physicians ordered an X-ray to determine the full extent of an injury above the left knee cap.

Cincinnati Manager Bill McKechnie picked Starr to replace his injured teammate in the All-Star game.

Several spots to pitch his eighth game of the season in the opener. He was touched for twelve hits.

In the nighttime Luke Hamlin failed to last the first inning for the Bucs. Gerald Walker cleaned the bases with a double and knocked Hamlin out during a four-run rally. The scores:

Veteran Southpaw Defeats Braves 2-1 after Boston Wins Opener 6-5

BOSTON, July 5 (AP)—The Boston Braves and Brooklyn Dodgers broke even today in a doubleheader, Jim Tobin scoring his eighth verdict of the season for Boston in the opener, 6-5, while Larry French, veteran southpaw, ran his unbeaten string to nine while capturing the nightcap, 2-1.

Brooklyn scored the winning run in the eighth inning of the second game without making a base hit. Arky Vaughan opened by drawing a base on balls and was sacrificed to second by Pete Reiser. Al Javery, the Boston hurler, tried to pick him off second and Vaughan went to third when the throw was wide. Joe Medwick brought him home with a long fly.

Boston counted first in the second inning, Brooklyn tied it up in the third, and from then until the eighth it was a pitching duel between French and Javery.

Miller broke up the first game with an eighth-inning double which scored Wane, who had walked. The count was deadlocked at 5-5 when Miller produced his timely blow to give the Braves their first triumph over the Dodgers at Braves field since last August. The scores:

Cooper, Whitlow Wyatt of Brooklyn and two lefthanders, Johnny Vander Meer and Cliff Melton (who worked yesterday) were singled out as the other hurlers most likely to be called for service.

Whichever squad wins will have to have a couple of hurlers left for service the next night when the winning team takes on Lefty Gordon (Mickey) Cochrane's All-Star army and navy array at Cleveland before an expected crowd of about 75,000 in Municipal stadium. This game will start at 9 p. m.

National Batting Order

The National League's probable batting order against a righthanded starter is:

Brown, St. Louis, 2b
Vaughan, Brooklyn, 3b
Reiser, Brooklyn, cf
Mize, New York, lf
Ott, New York, rf
Medwick, Brooklyn, c
Miller, Boston, ss

This gives the senior circuit a solid set of five lefthanded batters to open against any righthanded pitcher McCarthy may select and Durocher, with little loss of power, could convert his lineup to lead off with five righthanders if the American League started Newhouse.

In changing the lineup he previously had indicated was his first choice, McCarthy chose the slugging Rudy York, a righthanded hitter, over George McQuinn of St. Louis, a lefthander, for first base, but offset this by choosing Tom Henrich and Stan Spence for righthanded outfields.

Redbirds Sweep Both Ends of Bargain Bill with Cubs, 5-3 and 11-6

ST. LOUIS, July 5 (AP)—Sweeping both ends of a bargain bill with the Chicago Cubs, the Cardinals gained on the flatbushers by winning a pair of games today.

The Cardinals won the first game, 5 to 3, and the nightcap, 11 to 6.

The determined Cubs used seven pitchers, five of them in the final contest, in an effort to halt the Cards, who got by with Harry Gumbert in the first and trotted a trio out in the afterpiece.

Although out in the second game, ten to eleven, the Cards punched their efforts into two frames, the first in which they gathered five runs and the fifth in which they counted six times.

That wild fifth inning followed a four-run spurge by the Cubs in their half, during which Bill Nicholson and Lou Stringer smashed home runs consecutively.

Otherwise, it seemed, the Cardinals came up with a double play just when the Cubs appeared to be gathering steam. In all, the St. Louisans had six double killings.

New Yorkers Split with Athletics, Winning 4-2 after Bowling 5-4

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP)—The New York Yankees divided a doubleheader with the Philadelphia Athletics today, hanging on to their four-game lead in the American League as the second-place Boston Red Sox split with the Washington Senators.

Roger Wolff pitched the Athletics to a 5-4 triumph in the opener, although he gave up eleven hits, and the Yankees came back to take the nightcap, 4-2, with a nine-hit attack on Herman Besse.

Singles by Tommy Henrich and Joe DiMaggio brought the first run off Besse in the opening inning after Mike Kreevich dropped Buddy Hassett's fly. Two more Yankee runs crossed in the second on Phil Rizzuto's hit, a wild pitch, a double steal and an error, while Joe Gordon scored the final tally in the sixth by singling, stealing second and coming home on a single by Ed Kease.

Gerry Priddy took over first base for the Yankees when Buddy Hassett developed a stiff neck in the fourth inning, and collected a double and single in his two turns at bat.

Three double plays helped Wolff gain his eighth triumph against as many defeats in the first game. Atley Donald started for the Yankees. He yielded nine of Philadelphia's ten hits, but the Athletics ahead with a wild pitch in the sixth and gave way to Marv Breuer in the eighth when the A's tallied twice.

Charlie Keller doubled home two runs for the Yankees in the last half of the eighth, behind a walk to Hassett and a single by DiMaggio, but they couldn't overcome the lead. The scores:

DETROIT, July 5 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians and Detroit Tigers, chief contenders for the American League's third place, took turns today punching each other around in a doubleheader before 31,032 spectators, the Tigers unleashing a sixteen-hit attack to win the opener, 10 to 1, and Mel Harder pitching a three-hitter to give the Tribe the nightcap, 5 to 1.

The split left the Indians two games in front of their fourth place companion of last year.

Harder missed a shutout by only the margin of Pinky Higgins's eighth homer of the season in the fourth. He issued two singles the rest of the way and only one other Tiger passed second base.

In the opener Les Fleming's ninth homer was the lone run off Paul Dizzy Trout while his miss was capped by Vernon Kennedy and Steve Gromek freely. Rookie Ned Harris belted his seventh homer in the seventh with none on. It was the sixth victory for both Trout and Harder. The scores:

Bi-Staters Top Cameo A. A. To Take Series

Colts Turn Back Washington Nine 6-5 in 11 Innings

Leo Ryan Goes Route—Mayolo Paces Dobbins with Two Doubles

WESTERNPORT, July 5.—Waging an uphill battle all the way, the Bi-State Colts pushed across a run in the last of the ninth inning at Memorial Park here today to defeat the Cameo A. A. of Washington, D. C., 6-5 in eleven innings.

The victory enabled the Dobbins to win the three-game series with the District of Columbia semi-pro outfit. Yesterday in a doubleheader here, the Colts shook off their four-game losing streak by scoring two runs in the last inning to win 6-5 in the first game but they dropped the nightcap by a 5-1 count.

Cameo Scores Early

In today's tussle, a well-played game, Cameo pushed across three runs in the third to open the scoring. The Bi-Staters made their first counter in the fourth and then grabbed a 4-3 edge in the sixth. Cameo tied the figures in the seventh and then took a 5-4 lead in the first of the ninth, but the Dobbins came back with a run in the last of the ninth to send the skirmish into overtime.

In the last of the eleventh, two were out when the Bi-Staters managed to get the winning run around the bases. Art Scarpelli opened the frame by bouncing out, short to first, but Al Mayolo came through with his second double of the afternoon against the fence in centerfield. Pitcher Leo Ryan walked and "Babe" Scarpelli singled to right to load the bases. Mayolo was out at home on Joe Geatz's grounder to first but "Neb" George singled to center to drive Ryan home with the clinching margin.

Ryan Goes Route

Ryan, in going the route for the Colts, yielded eleven hits, walked five and struck out five. Bill Helmar, who started for Cameo, developed a sore arm in the ninth and was relieved by Frank Deavers, who was charged with the defeat. It was Deavers who pitched the Washingtonians to victory in the second game yesterday.

Scarpelli, George, Art Garbark, Joe Carbaceo and Mayolo each had two hits for the Bi-Staters while Godfrey and Dugan were the big guns in the Cameo attack with three bingles apiece. The box score:

John Creegan, who carded a 71, won the Hale America event with Bill Normand taking runnerup honors with a 72. William Jenkins captured the flag tournament with Creegan second and Dr. J. E. McLean annexing third and fourth places.

Whirly's Defeat By Tola Rose Is Proof for Axiom

Empire City Track Just What Doctor Hadn't Ordered for Wright Ace

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP)—The turf's old-timers took up their racing forms today and stuck out their chests at an arrogant "I-told-you-so" angle.

Wavering fingers under the noses of anyone who would listen—and a lot of those who wouldn't—the sages of racing insisted that the defeat of Warren Wright's Whirlaway in yesterday's Butler handicap at Empire City, highlighting what may have been the biggest betting day in the American turf, was definite proof of one of their most ancient chestnuts—that of "horses for courses."

Whirly, they pointed out, never had run at Empire, and its heavy footing, sharp turns and short homestretch was just what the doctor had not ordered for him. On the other hand, A. J. Sackett's Tola Rose, a $2,600 yearling bargain who now has won over $50,000, has shown that he likes Empire as much as he likes his oats. The moody five-year-old has run at the Yonkers plant seven times, has won three of those seven and finished second the other four.

Big Day for Betting

His three-length triumph over racing's "hot horse" was easily the feature of a day that saw an estimated 180,000 fans bet something like $6,000,000 at the nation's race tracks, war relief get about $200,000 from Empire City and Arlington Park, and Mrs. Payne Whitney's Shut Out take revenge on Emerson Woodward's Valinda Orphan in the Yankee handicap at Suffolk to hold his undisputed spot at the head of the parade of three-year-olds once more.

The only major victory ever chalked up by Tola Rose before yesterday's Butler, when he set a mile-and-three-sixteenths track record in 1:56 4-5, came at Empire, in the 1940 Questionaire handicap. And what's more, the ancients maintained, how come they whipped the Rose by nine lengths a week ago at Aqueduct and then finished second to him this time. To them, it was only the fact that the Rose can run on Empire City—that and the weight edge in his favor, for he carried only 103 compared to the 132 pounds Whirlaway had to pack.

Shut Out Breaks Mark

At Suffolk Downs, Shut Out, winner of the Kentucky Derby and Belmont stakes, looked Valinda Orphan in the eye a quarter of a mile from home and proved definitely that the Orphan wasn't good enough by beating him in the track record time of 1:55 2-5 for the mile and three sixteenths.

Take Wing, a 12-1 shot, did just that—take wing—in winning the Stars and Stripes at Arlington, where $1,203,242 was tossed into the mutuel machines. $1,428,791 was wagered at Empire City for a new record. Suffolk, Delaware, Detroit, Thistle Downs, Omaha, Wheeling, Charles Town and way-points made up the rest.

GET OUT OF THE WAY
WHEN YOU see a situation approaching which is likely to throw you into the lead when you don't want it, your job is to get out of the way if you can and help your partner to have the lead instead. In many a case you can do this by means of throwing off a sure winner in the hope that your partner has the card immediately beneath it. By doing this, you may enable him to take the crucial trick and thus avoid a lead of the very thing which the declarer desires. Plenty of times you are able to know, to a certainty, or almost so, that your partner will have the particular winning card you hope, he has.

Some of the bidding by that hand-hog in the South, who refused to let his partner play the deal at spades, could be attributed to the fact that it was a commuters' game and the train was nearing the station. But the play! Oh, yes, the play!

West led the diamond 10, the K falling to the A. The spade Q was covered by the club A-Q-J. He then finessed the club J and made a lead-throwing end-play, by putting forth the diamond 7. East had to win with the J, so could only lead a club to the tenace. If East had discarded his diamond J, West would have won any diamond lead and scored the setting trick with another diamond.

Your Week-End Lesson

What is the usual meaning of a dealer's bid of 2-No Trumps with most top rank players? What meaning do they usually attach to a response of three in a major suit? Three in a minor? Four in a major? Four in a minor? Five in a minor?

Woman Is Shot Through the Lip By Stray Bullet

Police Unable To Find Trace of Rifleman at Bowling Green

Mrs. Theodore Bell, 54, of Ocean Hill, narrowly escaped possible death Sunday afternoon when a stray rifle bullet penetrated her lower lip.

Mrs. Bell had just stepped out the back door at the home of her sister, Mrs. Mary Miller, Bowling Green, when she heard a bullet plunk into the porch. A moment later a second bullet struck her in the lower lip and after penetrating the entire length of the lip came out the other side. Mrs. Bell fainted from shock.

Her husband and sister called state police and Corp. Harold Carl took the injured woman to Memorial hospital. After the bullet wound was treated Mrs. Bell taken to her home. The bullet probably was a .22 calibre shot, police said.

In the meantime several other state troopers scoured the hillside back of the Miller residence but could find no trace of the careless rifleman. Corp. Carl said the state police have received quite a few complaints from residents of the Eckhart and Froberg sections about persons using rifles in and near homes.

Corp. Carl said anyone apprehended shooting rifles or other weapons near residential sections in the future will be vigorously prosecuted. He asks that anyone knowing of persons doing such shooting to contact either the state police or county authorities as both agencies are determined to stop the dangerous practice.

Police Find Lost Boy Sobbing on Downtown Street

A five-year-old boy who was visiting relatives here over the Fourth of July holidays was lost for several hours Saturday after he left a local theater and could not retrace his way home.

The boy, Ronald Bonnell, of Bridgeport, W. Va., attracted the attention of Officer John Powers near the police station as he walked along the street sobbing. Officer Powers took him into the station and after asking him where he lived could not ascertain from the boy's answers whom to get in touch with.

After several hours stay at the Salvation Army home an older brother contacted police and all was well again. The boy was wearing a white play suit and was barefoot but was none too happy.

Election Board Will Receive Applications

The Board of Supervisors of Elections of Allegany county will accept applications from candidates who desire their names placed on the ballot for the primary election September 8 at the board office in the court house today, Wednesday and Friday from 4 to 6 p. m.

Applications will be accepted Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week during the same hours until Friday, July 24.

Airplane Spotters Picnic Causes Much Comment

Official Calls Attention To Fact That Outing is Not For Wardens

Vincent P. Ingram, director of civilian defense for Allegany county has taken exception to an item appearing in a last Thursday's newspaper to the effect that the American Legion will sponsor a picnic for air raid wardens July 26 at Minke's.

Ingram says the picnic is for air raid "spotters", and not for wardens. He emphasized this fact and said the group of wardens should not be confused with the group known as "spotters".

American Legion posts in the county have sponsored, financed and almost completely manned the spotter stations throughout the county since they became necessary as a part of the vital link in civilian defense and coordinated control against possible invasion or air raid attempts.

However, a representative of the local legion post appeared several times before members of the board of county commissioners and appealed for financial assistance to help finance the posts. The commissioners subsequently voted $1200 for the twelve spotter stations in the county. Eight hundred dollars was paid to the Cumberland post, and the balance divided between Froberg and Lonaconing posts.

When the announcement was made that local legionnaires planned a picnic for airplane spotters here, there was some indignation voiced in official circles, because when the appeal was made for county funds, it was indicated that the legion needed funds to continue the stations.

County officials express the view that the money being spent for the picnic might be used to help finance the cost of operating the stations.

Samuel B. Moser, B. & O. Dispatcher, Dies in Hospital

Succumbs Shortly after Being Admitted; Two Sons Are in Armed Service

Samuel Bruce Moser, 50, of 467 Goethe street, died Sunday night at 7:10 o'clock shortly after being admitted to Memorial hospital. He was a B. & O. railroad train dispatcher.

A native of Paw Paw, W. Va., he was a son of Samuel and Catherine Moser. Moser was a member of the Masonic Order and All Ghan Shrine.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Josephine Gross Moser, he is survived by three sons, Corp. Forrest "Mike" Moser, Camp Livingston, La.; Corp. Reid Moser, attending Officers Training School, Fort Benning, Ga.; and Eugene Moser, at home.

The body was taken to Stein's funeral home pending completion of funeral arrangements.

The body was taken to Stein's funeral home. Funeral services are incomplete but burial will be made in Beverly, W. Va.

Equipment for State Guardsmen And Minute Men Being Studied

Legislative Council Seeks Information from County About Assistance Here

There is evidence that the state might consider an appropriation, at the next session of the General Assembly, for the purchase of uniforms and equipment for Maryland Minute Men.

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners has received an inquiry from Horace E. Plack, Baltimore, secretary of the Legislative Council, asking if uniforms have been purchased by Allegany county for its Minute men and also how many minute men are enlisted in this county.

Commissioners here have made no indication of purchasing uniforms or equipment for the minute men or any other group of civilian defense enrollees. A couple of weeks ago, the county appropriated $1,200 for maintenance of spotter stations, and this is the only money expended directly for the county's civilian defense activities.

Stewart To Seek County Clerkship

William Stewart, a native of Eckhart, Allegany county, who has been serving as deputy clerk to the Trial Magistrate Court and Peoples Court, Cumberland, for the past four years, has announced his candidacy for the office of clerk to the county commissioners, subject to the Republican primary to be held in September.

Mr. Stewart, a resident of Froberg for the past eighteen years, is a former coal miner. After completing a business course at a Cumberland business college, he was employed in the office of the Cumberland Brewing company from 1907 to 1931. His father and mother came to the United States from Scotland a century ago and settled in Eckhart.

WALTER PERDEW IS ELECTED AS SACHEM OF LOCAL RED MEN

Walter Perdeu was elected sacheem of Tonkaway Tribe No. 120, Improved Order of Red Men, yesterday at a special meeting at the "Wigwam," 25 Bedford street.

Perdeu succeeds Stanley Burke who was elevated to the post of prophet.

William J. Davis was elected senior saganore; John Wilson, junior saganore; Ralph Carver, collector of wampum; Kelly Robinson, keeper of wampum; Louis A. DeLaGrange, special officer, and Ernest H. Hess, trustee for eighteen months.

Officers were installed by Ewald W. Ruehl, retiring prophet.

Fair Will Not Be Called Off Unless President Says So, Manley Declares

Harry A. Manley, president and general manager of the Cumberland fair, said it will not be called off "unless the president says so."

"I know the fairs in Pennsylvania are not closing and the very large fairs at Kansas City and in Nebraska are going ahead. If the west can go ahead so can the east, even though it can't get the gasoline."

John William Farrell, counsel for Mariboro's half-mile track, said there will be no fair this year in connection with the race meeting which will begin August 19.

The race meeting Bel Air's half-mile track will begin July 22 and a three-day fair is scheduled to follow. G. Ray Bryson, general manager, said that "we've never had a formal request either to discontinue the race meeting or the fair. The government gets a lot of taxes from the half-mile tracks but no income from the fairs."

Cumberland Head Goes Ahead with Plans Despite Eastman Request

BALTIMORE, July 5 (AP)—Officials of the Timonium and Cumberland fairs said today they are going ahead with plans despite a request by Joseph B. Eastman, director of defense transportation, for cancellation of state and county fairs for the duration.

In both instances the officials indicated that if a formal order or request were issued, the fairs would be cancelled.

The Timonium fair board will meet tomorrow to complete arrangements for the annual event, opening this year on August 30, Matthias Daiger announced.

"We have received no official notice from the government to suspend," Daiger said. "We understand Mr. Eastman was expressing only his opinion. We have received no formal request. We are trying to find out ourselves if there is a general order."

Murder Trial Opens Next Week In Circuit Court

Vernon E. Gray Enters Plea of Not Guilty and Prays Hearing before Jury

The trial of Vernon E. Gray of Corriagane, charged with the fatal shooting of his next door neighbor, Norman E. Emerick, will begin next Monday at 9:15 a. m. in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Gray was arraigned Friday before Chief Judge D. Lindley Sloan and Associate Judge William A. Huster, following his indictment by a special session of the April term grand jury, summoned by the court to consider the evidence in the case.

When arraigned in court, Gray entered a plea of not guilty and elected to be tried before a jury. Members of the April term petit jury will be recalled.

Edward J. Ryan is attorney for Gray, and Thomas Loar Richards is assisting the state's attorney, Morgan C. Harris with the prosecution of the case.

In testimony at preliminary hearings, it was shown that Gray and Emerick had quarreled on occasion and shortly before noon, June 12, they had a violent disagreement on the road by their homes. It was shown that Gray entered his house, returned with a shot gun and threatened Emerick, who was standing near Gray's property. In the scuffle which resulted when Emerick tried to disarm Gray, the gun was discharged and Emerick was fatally wounded. Witnesses also said that Gray then beat Emerick over the head with the gun and dragged Emerick about fifteen or twenty feet onto the front lawn of the Grays' property.

Two physicians have certified that Gray is afflicted with an incurable malady and has been unable to work for about a year. He was treated for the disease for a number of weeks in a Baltimore hospital.

It was Gray's physical condition which prompted the court to recall the grand jury and bring the case to trial one month and a day after the shooting occurred.

Helmick Rites Scheduled Today

Rawlings Youth Drowned Friday Night in the Potomac River

Funeral services will be held today at the Rawlings Methodist church for Delbert Lincoln Helmick, 18, of near Rawlings, who drowned Friday night in the Potomac river. Interment will be in the Bel cemetery. Helmick's body was not recovered from the river until five hours after he sank beneath the surface.

Accompanied by three other youths, Helmick walked to the swimming hole more than a mile from the McMillen Highway, and the four disrobed for a nocturnal dip to escape the heat. Helmick could not swim, but he jumped from a plank into the stream, more than ten feet deep at that point.

Group Dismisses Case For Lack of Evidence

Investigating a report that a local employer had discharged a young man because he requested time off from work in order to be examined for enlistment in the armed services, officials of the local posts of the Veterans of Foreign War and American Legion Friday announced that the case was dismissed for "lack of sufficient evidence."

The employer of the youth and a relative of the latter appeared before the officials of the service organizations yesterday at the V. F. W. home and after a brief discussion the case was closed. The youth, now in the navy, it was revealed, made some misleading statements that resulted in the investigation.

John R. Kelley, commander, Samuel A. Graham, Sr., of the Legion, and David W. Sloan, of the V. F. W., conducted the investigation.

Three County Men Enrolled in U. S. Army Glider School

AMARILLO, Tex., July 5 (AP)—Three Allegany county, Md., men are stationed at Amarillo's advanced Army Air Force glider school where many graduates of pre-glider schools scattered over the windy plains of the middle and far west will complete courses in motorless flying.

The Maryland men are Captain Arthur H. Amick and Private First Class William Bantz, Jr., of Cumberland, and Private First Class Clarence Fazenbaker, 223 East Main street, Froberg.

School officials said the school is temporary and will be moved to Dalhart, Tex., in the fall. The use of air-borne gliders for use of air-borne men and materials, they said, is the newest weapon of the United States Air Force.

Boy Scouts Appreciate New Floors Provided By County Commissioners

A letter from John L. Dunkle, president of the Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, thanking the county for repairing floors in their headquarters, Union street school building, has been received by Simeon W. Greene, president of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

The floors were repaired as a part of a project of renovating and improving the old school building, now used for county offices.

He came to Maryland from a job which brought him into close contact with the forest problems of forty-one states. During a recent visit here he conducted a tour of the forests in Garrett and Allegany counties.

Welfare Board Conducts Food Stamp Survey

Persons Are "Warming Up" to Plan; Checks for Aged Persons Delayed

A survey being conducted by the Allegany County Welfare Board indicates that persons receiving public assistance are "warming up" to the Food Stamp Plan which will be inaugurated in this county on or about July 15.

Miss Irene Olson, executive secretary of the board, said that out of a total of 331 queries mailed out in recent days, replies have been received from forty-six persons who have expressed their willingness to participate in the plan.

The board is now busy engaged in certifying individuals and families.

Grocers will meet here Tuesday, July 14 to register for the plan.

Approximately 800 persons participating in the old-age program in Allegany county will be a day late getting their July assistance checks because of a delay in passage of the appropriations bill by Congress, Miss Olson said.

Checks usually are mailed out on July 5 but will not go out until today. The government advances half the assistance payments in this classification.

The delay will not affect other persons receiving public assistance as those checks do not go out until July 15. Last month 799 aged persons received $16,054, an average grant of $20 a person.

Patriotic Program At Park Attracts Record Crowd

Eloquent Address Climaxes Band Concert and Holiday Observance

Record crowds assembled at Constitution Park, Saturday and Sunday, as the weekend holiday brought a respite from business and toil while even many of those who work in local industry, on defense and other jobs, took a few hours of the day to rest and relax at Cumberland's most beautiful play ground.

Climaxed last night by a patriotic assembly, featuring a band concert by the band of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, under the able direction of Joseph A. Fradiska and an inspirational address by City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson, several thousand persons gathered in the huge amphitheater.

Known throughout this area as an able and interesting speaker, Gibson was at his best last night as he delivered an eloquent, patriotic talk.

Presented By Mayor Conlon

Presented by Mayor Thomas F. Conlon, the speaker said, "Yesterday, our nation celebrated Independence Day, the 166th anniversary of our declaration to become a free and independent people. But that celebration was unlike any in former years. There were no political orators waving the American flag from numerous platforms throughout the land. There were no 'spread-eagle' speeches depicting our glorious heritage—our God-given right to first place in the sun—our superiority or invincibility. Not unless it was in some backwoods community which is still unstirred by the sound of marching feet and the screaming bulletins of the press and radio.

"No, this was a different fourth of July. Men in uniform took the places of political speakers and their speeches were commands to action. For this is the first time in 166 years that the freedom of the American people has been challenged.

New Phase in History

"It is true that our country has engaged in a number of wars. But it cannot be said that at any time our own form of government was in great danger.

"The war of 1812 was fought for the freedom of the seas and the rights of American seamen on those seas. The war of 1846 was to justify our national dignity and the sovereignty which had been flouted by Mexico. The Civil war was for the preservation of the union. The Spanish-American war in 1898 was to free struggling Cuba from tyranny and oppression, and again in 1917, we took up arms as a friend of smaller nations, more particularly Belgium. Certainly, it was a remote thought that our own freedom was in jeopardy.

"Today we face an entirely different situation. Some of our possessions have already been seized by the enemy and attacks have been made on the North American continent.

"Yes, America is in a fighting mood. Her enemies are on both her shores. The 166 years of progress under the great free institutions of Democracy hangs in the balance.

Council To Visit City Airport This Afternoon

Officials to Inspect Project and Study Value of Land Under Option

Members of the mayor and city council, the municipal airport commission and other interested officials will visit the site of the new airport, near Wiley Ford, W. Va., this afternoon at 2 o'clock, for a tour of inspection.

The officials will view particularly, 15.87 acres of land, needed to complete the project. Options were taken on this land about ten days ago by Arthur J. Weber and Oscar Gurley, members of the airport commission. Members of council have declined to date to approve the purchase, objecting to the cost.

At a meeting last week, Mayor Thomas F. Conlon suggested the trip to the airport, saying "we can all get a better idea of location and value, if we look at the land instead of maps." Mayor Conlon said it might be a good idea, too, for the council to view the progress that has been made.

Work on the airport is progressing steadily. Part of runway No. 1 is ready for asphalt, and as soon as this is available, the top surface will be put on. This work is to be done under a contract by the Cumberland Contracting Company.

Excavation continues on several other portions of the project, and a number of large fills are about completed.

Additional projects for other excavation, fills, runways and other work are now being studied by the Works Progress Administration, Civil Aeronautics Association and the U. S. Department of War. Approval of these additional grants is expected within the next few days.

To continue with these phases of construction, however, the land now under debate by city officials must be acquired.
